The Making of Pixel Art Dreams — Sixteen Impossible Places from One Tiny Blueprint

📅 17 September 2026 📁 Books, Pixel Art 💬 0 Comments

Pixel Art Dreams started with a single small image — a rough blueprint filled with tiny thumbnails. From that one sketch came a full 16-page A4 book, each page a detailed 32-bit pixel world. Here's the story of how it all came together.

The original Pixel Art Dreams blueprint — 16 tiny thumbnails, one for each world in the book.

From a Small Idea to a Big Project

The blueprint above was the starting point. Sixteen tiny images, each just a few pixels high, but full of potential. The idea was simple — what if each thumbnail became a full page? Sixteen different places, sixteen different moods, all connected by the same pixel art style.

Building the Worlds

One by one, the thumbnails were recreated at high resolution in full 32-bit pixel art. Each place got its own story, atmosphere and details — from floating castles and underwater cities to deserts, volcanoes, space stations and ancient ruins.

The Finished Book

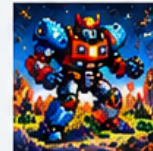

The result is a 16-page A4 book filled with colourful, detailed pixel worlds. What started as a simple sketch turned into a journey through some truly impossible places.

THE CRAZY PROFESSOR

On the other side, PENGU!N found a breathtaking new world. Floating islands, towering cities and endless adventures awaited.

The LEGO logo is prominently displayed in the top left corner. It features the word "LEGO" in a bold, white, sans-serif font with a thick black outline, set against a solid red rectangular background.

SOME TIPS...

- Not every path leads to the castle!
- Look for bridges, ladders and hidden routes.
- Enjoy the scenery along the way!
